

which the peninsula takes its name, is on the promontory at the junction of the Dardanelles with the Sea of Marmora. There are no forts at the town, but strong Turkish batteries have been posted there, and it is less than five miles from the forts of Bulair. The troops which occupied Gallipoli are evidently part of the forces landed on the Asiatic side.

Excellent progress is being made by the French also, but both they and the British have suffered severe losses.

The bombardment of the Dardanelles forts by the allied fleet has continued without cessation since noon Saturday. It is stated that the allied warships have reached Vryese, in front of the Chanak forts, at the entrance to the narrow of the Dardanelles.

A dispatch from Tenedos says that the prisoners taken by the allies in the land fighting already number 1,000, including many German officers. The landing of troops at the Dardanelles has been effective in at least four places, one on the Asiatic and three on the European side.

Progress of French.
The correspondent here of the Exchange Telegraph Company says that fierce fighting throughout Wednesday on the shores of Suvla Bay, on the western side of the Gallipoli peninsula, eighteen miles north of the southern extremity, resulted in successes for the allies. The losses of the Turks were serious. One entire battalion was captured by the allies.

The British force landed on the European coast of the Dardanelles, the dispatch continues, has been entrusted solely with the mission of occupying the Gallipoli peninsula, which is defended by 40,000 Turks.

The French force has been landed entirely on the Asiatic coast with the object of advancing along the littoral to keep pace with the progress made by the British on the opposite coast.

Little Damage Is Done In England by Zeppelin

LONDON, April 30.—Advices from Felixstowe and other points over which the German Zeppelin passed last night received today show that very little damage resulted. As in the case of all previous visitations, no attempt apparently was made to do any damage to fortified positions.

The German aircraft was aided by a dense fog, which covered the coast. It passed in from the sea at Felixstowe at midnight, and proceeded on Brookshall road, a residence section. Five houses were destroyed by fire here.

Bomb Falls In Bedroom.
One of the bombs fell in the bedroom occupied by Harry Godwin, his wife, and their daughter, twelve years old. The girl's bed was set on fire, but the father rescued her, and set fire to a stable and buildings in the vicinity of the Suffolk Hotel. St. Andrew's Hall and other buildings nearby were destroyed. Some of the bombs fell in the residential section. One man rushed into the road and extinguished the fuse of a bomb with a ball of water. The Zeppelin, flying in the direction of the sea.

One of the clearest stories told was by W. T. Eassey, of Brookshall road, Ipswich, who said:
"I was awakened by a buzz and almost immediately I heard an explosion. All of the windows of my house were shattered and the building set on fire. I rushed into the street, taking my wife with me. I could see the airship above the city. I went back, then, and carried out my young son. By that time the entire building was on fire. The bomb destroyed the back of it and made a big hole in the ground."

Turks Fighting With Enthusiasm, Asserts War Office Report.

CONSTANTINOPLE (Via wireless), April 30.—British claims of success on the Gallipoli peninsula are without foundation, according to the official statements issued by the Turkish war office. The Ottoman forces on the peninsula are fighting with the utmost enthusiasm, and have repelled the enemy at every point. The battle has now been in progress without interruption for two days and nights, and the spirit of the Turkish forces is declared to be of the best.

In the first fighting after the landing, Kum Kaleh fortress, on the Asiatic side of the Dardanelles, did not fire a single shot. The Turkish troops charged the enemy with bayonets and routed them, capturing large quantities of arms and ammunition.

Forty of the enemy's battalions have been destroyed. The Turkish forces have captured the Gallipoli peninsula, without result.

Roumanian and Bulgar War Chiefs to Confer.

BUCHAREST, via Rome, April 30.—Generalissimo Michael Savoff, of Bulgaria, is expected here today for a conference with the war office, after which he will have an audience with King Ferdinand.

Absolutely no information is obtainable about the visit, which is regarded as of the highest importance, but it goes without saying that it concerns the action of the two Balkan countries in the war.

Michael Savoff who as minister of war organized the Bulgarian army, equipped it and drilled it and then fought in the Balkan war as its commander in chief, is regarded as one of the strongest men in the Balkans. He is often called the "Voyvoda" of his country. His visit to Roumania at this time is likely to have an important effect on the situation.

Kaiser's Guns Turned On German Troops as They Show White Flag.

HAVRE, April 30.—How a German force which tried to surrender when its retreat was cut off through the destruction of a bridge across the Yser canal, was mowed down by German guns, was related here today by officers returning from the front.

An advance guard of 4,000 German forces its way across the Yser canal at Steenstraete yesterday. After they had crossed, the Belgian artillery, which had the exact range, destroyed the bridge and cut off the German retreat. The Germans, facing annihilation at the hands of the Belgians, tied white handkerchiefs on the barrels of their rifles as a signal of surrender. At this moment the German guns on the east bank of the canal were opened on them and hundreds of them were slaughtered. The remainder ran to the Belgian lines and surrendered.

Presbyterian board of foreign missions, state that not less than 800 have been murdered there, and that not less than 2,000 have perished from disease.

The attacks, it would appear, have not been confined to Kurds, but have been made, in at least one instance, by Turkish soldiers. Crucifixion and burning Christians alive have been revived, missionaries reported to the board.

The attack in which Turkish soldiers were the assailants was made upon the American mission and the French Roman Catholic mission. Five native Russian priests were taken from the American mission by the Turks.
